Profile

Basil is a Singaporean filmmaker. Balancing a lifelong fascination with the immense world-building possibilities of the fictional narrative with the occasional inkling to uncover real stories through documentaries, his personal style incorporates his appetite for truth and authenticity. An advocate of personal/professional development and sustained learning, he completed a BA (Hons) in Digital Film Making from Middlesex University, UK, and graduated with First Class Honours, which enriched his capabilities as a creative media practitioner. He is also an inaugural recipient of the IMDA's SkillsFuture Study Awards for the Media sector.
